Bond says he will sign consumer bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill hailed by the governor as "the most significant consumer legislation in several years," is on the way to the governor's desk.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond said Thursday he will sign next week a bill abolishing the holder-in-due-course doctrine, which now permits a seller of goods or services to escape liability for the product by selling the contract to a bank or financing company, which is not liable for the defective product.

The measure, approved by the Senate Thursday, makes the bank liable for performing on the product within 90 days with regard to a product such as a refrigerator. For services, such as a health club, there is no time limit for the buyer seeking a remedy.

The measure would apparently not cover automobiles or other products protected by a warranty.

Bond said that when he worked in the consumer protection of the attorney general's office, the holder-in-due-course problem was existent in 80 per cent of the consumer fraud cases.

"The bill ensures the virtual end of fly-by-night operations defrauding the citizens of our state," said one of the sponsors, Rep. Kenneth Rothman, D-Clayton.

Bond said it would help crack down on franchise sellers and pyramid sales schemes.

"It will make lending companies more careful about the kind of contracts they purchase, and therefore help ensure Missouri consumers of more reliable services," Rothman said.

The bill take effect Aug. 13.

At present, for example, a person can sell a refrigerator on an installment plan, sell the contract to a bank and leave town with the money. If the refrigerator doesn't work, the bank continues to collect the payments and can't be forced to provide a new refrigerator.

Voting against the bill on a 19-5 vote in the Senate were Sens. Paul Bradshaw, R-Springfield, Norman Merrell, D-Monticello, John Ryan, R-Sedalia, Truman Wilson, D-St. Joseph, and Nelson Tinnin, D-Hornersville.

The House, meanwhile, concluded the week with a busy day by approving campaign financing reform, a bill to prohibit some corporate farming operations and a measure regulating abortions. The bills now go to the Senate.

Killed 74-72, without the necessary 82 yes votes, was a measure to allow the state Public Service Commission to regulate rural electrical cooperatives and divide up the state into service areas for them.

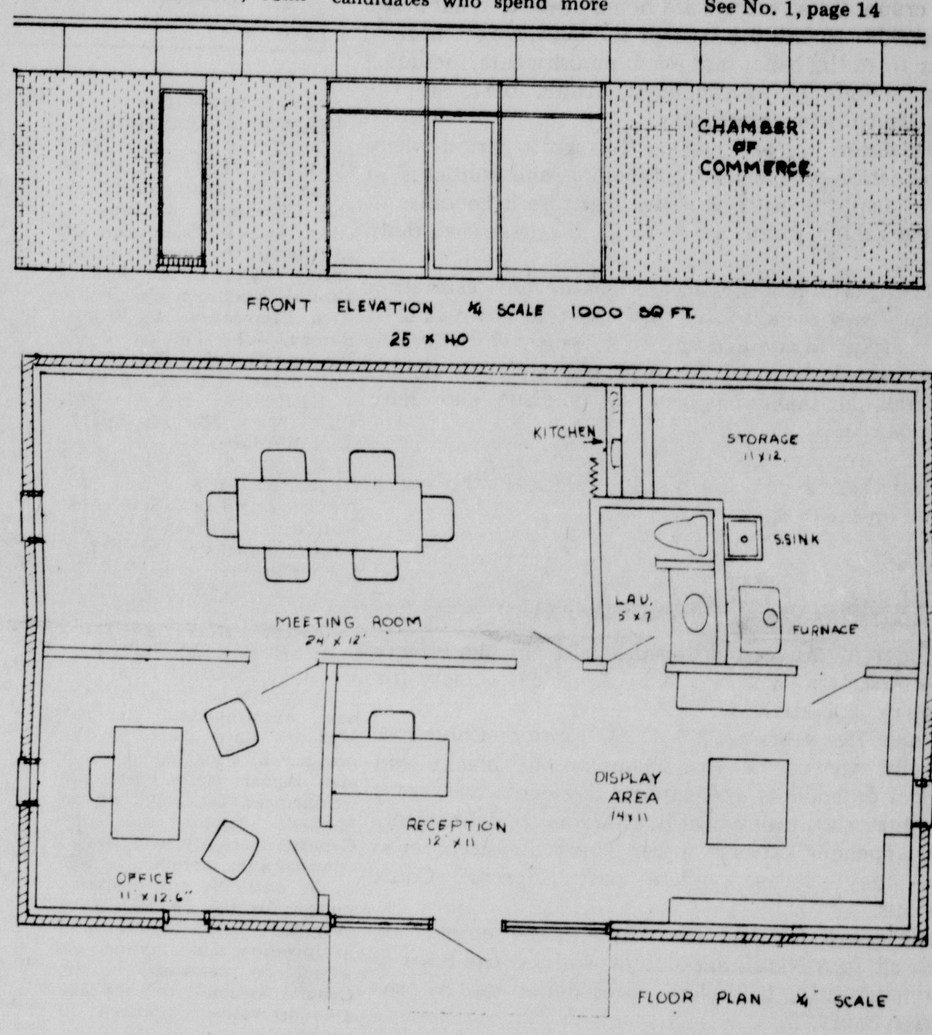

The campaign reform bill, extensively debated, says all candidates who spend more than $500 in contributions or his own money must report to the secretary of state.

He must report all contributions of over $25 with the name of the person contributing the money. Contributions of under $25 must be reported in total but the name of the contributor does not have to be reported.

Expenses and contributions must be reported 30 days and seven days before an election and 30 days after.

Under a total spending formula, a candidate for governor could not spend more than about $300,000 during one campaign. The limit would apply to the

Club opens for teens

The 21 Club, 1100 W. Malone Ave., has reopened as a teen club under the sponsorship of auxiliary policeman Larry Browning and police Lt. Walter Wilson teen-agers and any parents who want to come, Browning said.

He promised the club would be well supervised. No alcoholic beverages or drugs will be allowed, he said.

The club's hours are from 3:30 p.m. to midnight and from 9 a.m. to midnight on Saturdays. In addition, Browning said, all city curfew laws must be observed by the teen-agers.

A band has signed to play next Friday, but Browning was still looking for a band to perform tonight and Saturday. Browning said the club will have bands on the weekends and a jukebox during the week.

Other entertainment will be provided by coin-operated games.

There may be a cover charge for admission on nights bands are performing, Browning said. The charge is necessary to pay the cost of the band, he said.

Browning said a meeting of teen-agers who attend the club will be held at 5 p.m. today to elect a six-member rules committee. The committee members will all be teen-agers, he said.

The club is a non-profit project, he said, and will be operated only as a place for teens to gather. The club is being financed primarily by Browning and Wilson. Browning said he hopes to earn enough money from the coin-operated games to pay the rent on the building.

Besides the rules the teen rules committee institutes, the following rules will also apply. No drugs or alcoholic beverages are allowed in the building or on the parking lot. Violators will be prosecuted. The rule is in force for parents, also.

No fighting or use of profane language will be allowed by either the children or their parents.

All police officers are welcome at any time, including auxiliary police and cadets. When there is a cover charge for a band, police cadets and their dates will be admitted free.

The club is under the supervision of adults at all times.

Chamber lets contract for new office building

The Chamber of Commerce Thursday authorized construction of a 1,000 square-foot building to house chamber offices.

The building will be built at the northeast corner of Airport and Industrial drives at a cost of $24,913.

The brick veneer building will contain a meeting room, office, reception and display area and storage facilities.

Construction is set to begin in a week to 10 days, with completion expected in three months. Ray Construction Co. has been awarded the contract to build the office.

The decision to build at the corner of Airport and Industrial drive was made because the site is on city property, is easily accessible, can be seen from the highway and is centrally located with easy access to any part of Sikeston.

The half-acre site is being leased from the city for $600. The lease runs for 50 years.

"AN EYE FOR AN EYE"

Restoration of the death penalty, now being considered in Congress, should be weighed more carefully before it is put into effect in any form.

The only valid argument for the death penalty is that it will act as a deterrent to murderous criminals. Statistics have been advanced to prove both that it is a deterrent and that it is not.

The Senate recently passed a bill calling for mandatory death sentences as the penalty for a number of high crimes including espionage, killing during kidnapping, skyjacking, treason, and assassination of the President, Vice President, the Chief Justice, the head of a foreign state, or a federal law enforcement officer.

Persons convicted of such vicious crimes as these undoubtedly deserve the most severe penalties that can be handed out to them under the law. But whether or not the ultimate penalty should be death has deep moral aspects.

Humanity is slowly emerging from the primitive state where it was demanded that the punishment fit the crime. Great efforts are being made to rehabilitate those who violate the laws of the land. We are moving away from the belief that harsh punishments, including long periods of confinement behind bars, are the solution to rising crime rates.

However, we are passing through a period where assassination, skyjacking, kidnapping, and murder is on the increase. It must be stopped before it becomes so rampant that citizens are not safe to pursue their daily lives.

The question to be faced is whether the restoration of the death penalty will turn the tide downward or will simply satisfy a desire or revenge. We believe a better solution would be to incarcerate such vicious criminals in maximum security facilities and deny them parole.

COURT REVERSAL

Whether or not Richard M. Nixon serves out the remainder of his second presidential term, the effects of his first term will be felt by American society for perhaps a generation.

Where five years ago the U. S. Supreme Court was generally viewed as the champion of blacks and criminal defendants and antiwar dissidents and every other minority, today civil libertarians are deliberately NOT appealing adverse lower court decisions, even those they believe violate past Supreme Court decisions.

The reason is fear that the "Burger court," on which sit four Nixon appointees, will use the cases as an opportunity to reverse precedents set by the "Warren court."

Landmark decisions that have already been modified include the Miranda ruling on self-incrimination and the Mapp ruling on illegally seized evidence.

This is something new under the American sun — people avoiding the nation's highest court, the judicial guardian of its liberties, out of fear that what they will get will be less not more, liberty.

LATEST IN FRINGE BENEFITS

Never underestimate the ability of the free enterprise system to rise to a disastrous occasion.

Although for obvious reasons they don't like to publicize the fact, more and more companies are taking out kidnap- ramson insurance for their top executives and families. A typical policy may be for $1 million, but policies have been written for as high as $20 million.

One major international corporation is reportedly paying a $100,000 premium for a three- year kidnap-ramson policy on all its employes.

STRANGE WAYS OF THE TV NETWORKS

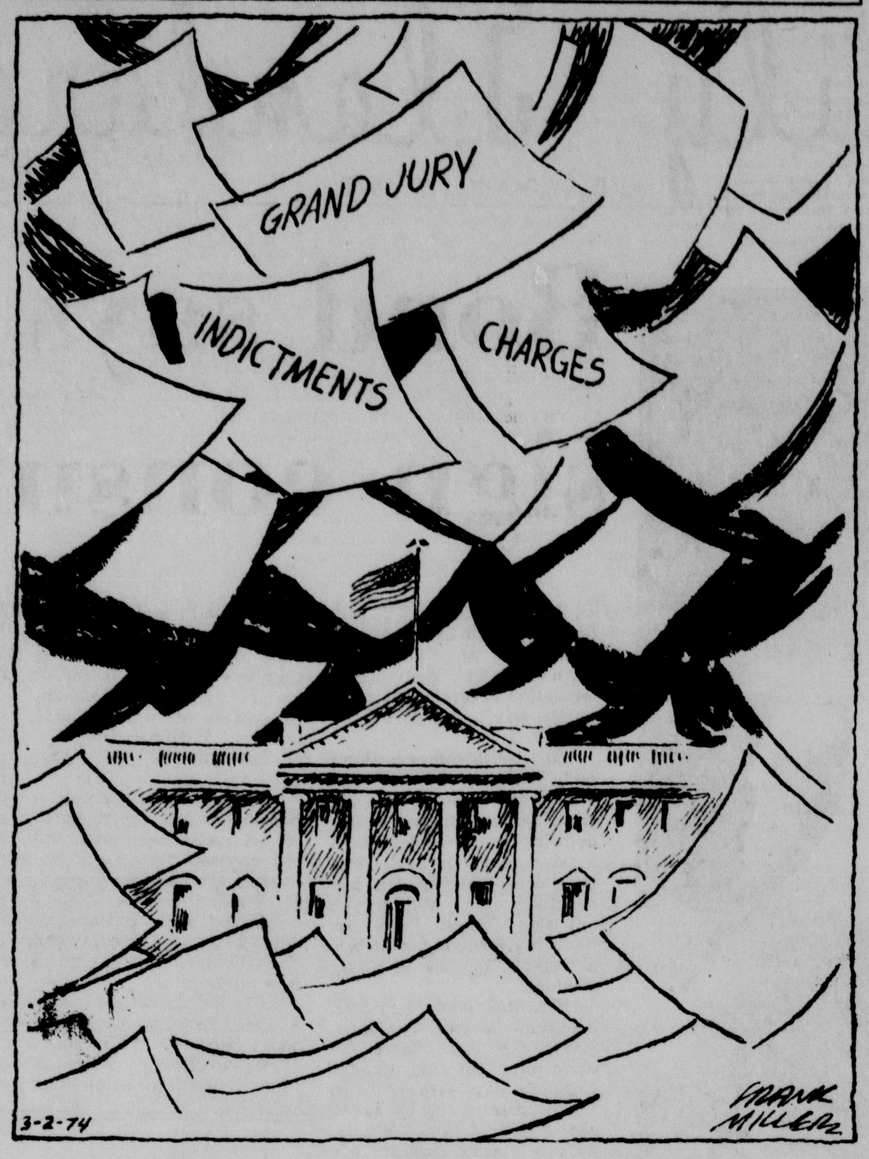

It would appear that the personal enterprise, profit-motive system of our Republic has been made so "controversial" by leftish opinion- molders that the TV networks now refuse a paid commercial designed to inform the public as to the benefits and virtues of private enterprise.

Norm Campbell, president of Tracy- Locke Advertising, "got his 'Middle American' dander up," as he put it, when all three major networks rejected a paid commercial explaining the benefits to the public at large resulting from the enterprise system.

Campbell said that one network official told him that if the commercial were for another company, it would probably have been accepted. It might be guessed that the commercial was for an oil company, but it was for one of the scores of medium- sized companies Phillips 66, not one of the six or eight giants.

Campbell noted, "I'm not out to conduct a personal vendetta against the networks We know they are terribly afraid of the 'fairness doctrine,' but if anyone should be asking for free time it's the oil companies." The Phillips 66 Company and Campbell and Tracy-Locke, as well as courageous local TV stations which are airing the commercial extolling personal enterprise, all deserve the support and commendation of the public. INFLATION, FALLING REVENUE MAY FORCE UP MISSOURI TAX

Although a large balance has accumulated in the Missouri state treasury, the prospect of a sagging economy and higher state costs has reinformced the belief in the Missouri capitol that the General Assembly will have to consider a tax increase.

In outlining his proposed budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year, Gov. Christopher S. Bond in November said a tax increase would be necessary if the General Assembly did not take a conservative approach to finances.

Since that time continued inflation in state costs and signs that tax receipts for the state may fall have strengthened the concern about a possible tax increase.

"We're living off the past year's surplus forever," Mark L. Edelman, Bond's budget director, said. "We could be in trouble within two years if the present economic trends continue."

However the Bond administration has made no contingency plans for when the year-end balances in state funds are depleted. Whether a tax increase will be proposed by Bond for state programs and services reduced has not been decided, Edelman said.

"It (a tax increase) isn't a delightful prospect; the governor doesn't like the idea of a tax increase on its merits or politically," Edelman said. "But if the General Assemlly keeps passing big money bills, the pressure (for a tax increase), is hard to resist."

The president financial picture for Missouri state government is following a familiar pattern. After a tax increase, surpluses are built up over several years, then the state starts new programs and operates on deficit budgets until the surplus is depleted and another tax increase is needed.

In December 1970 the legislature approved increases in the corporate and individual income taxes after state agencies were cut back in their budgets by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes when state tax revenue fell below the anticipated amounts.

After the income tax increase, state cash balance increased from $7.4 million on July 1, 1971, to $26.6 million at the same time in 1972 and to $92.3 million on July 1, 1973.

Part of the jump in the balance from 1972 to 1973 is attributed to a one-time windfall of about $37 million that resulted when the state changed its tax collection procedures and received income tax revenue for 14 months in the 12-month 1972-73 fiscal year.

A booming economy in 1972 and last year was reflected in increased sales and income tax receipts, Missouri officials said.

The Missouri situation is in contrast, in past, with Kansas and Iowa where state officials have attributed large balances in the state treasuries to boosts in state receipts as a result of increased farm income and other personal and corporate income.

The $92.3 million balance in the Missouri state treasury will start to evaporate this year to cover a deficit budget that was approved for the 1973-74 fiscal year by the Democratic - controlled General Assembly and Bond, the Republican governor.

The budget calls for the expenditure of about $598 million of state funds in the current fiscal year and reducing the balance to $88.3 million on July 1, 1974. The over-all state budget for the current year is $2,081 billion, including a federal and other restricted funds.

New programs approved last year by the legislature and by Bond helped push the current year's budget into the red. They include property tax relief for the elderly, which will cost about $13 million, and increased payments for aid to dependent children, $8.4 million. State aid to school districts also was increased by $21.2 million for the current fiscal year.

Bond's recommended budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year proposes the expenditure oof about $1.021 billion in state funds and reducing the balance in the state treasury to about $80 million on July 1, 1975. The proposed $1974-75 budget reflects a new expenditure of about $7.8 million for a comprehensive special education program that was authorized last year by the legislature and by Bond. The governor also has proposed adding another $15 million to state aid for school districts next year.

The estimated balance in the state treasury on July 1, 1975, would re reduced below $80 million if the legislature enacts any new programs. The General Assembly is likely to approve repeal of the personal property tax on household goods which will cost the state about $14 million to replace the revenue that will be lost by cities and other local governments.

Estimates by Bond's staff for year- end balances in 1974 and 1975 also will be overly optimistic if tax receipts are not as large as expected. Edelman said there were signs that the economy is slackening and that tax receipts may drop below expectations.

Edelman noted that less liquor taxes and less sales taxes were collected in January this year than January 1973.

"That is the first really ominous sign," Edelman commented. "The downturn is starting; it's that simple. I'm also concerned a drop in employment will affect the income tax receipts."

Higher unemployment would mean less income tax receipts for the state. Also consumers in a sagging economy would spend less money which would result in smaller sales tax receipts. In the current year the income tax is expected to account for 34.6 per cent of state receipts and the sales tax, 45.6 per cent.

A report prepared by the staff of the Senate Appropriations Committee noted a reduction in the sale of cars and other durable goods may decrease state sales tax receipts. The Senate staff report generally is less optimistic about tax receipts than Bond's proposed budget and forecasts a smaller balance in the state treasury on July 1, 1975, then projected by Bond's budget staff.

While the state may receive less tax receipts than it is anticipating, costs also are likely to be higher than originally budgeted.

"I'm concerned about inflation because of the costs we have to appropriate for," Edelman said. "To maintain the same services we have to spend more money."

Rapidly rising costs for food and for heating and motor fuel are likely to have the largest impact on the state budget. The impact already is being felt with some state agencies this year requesting appropriations for the current year to meet the higher costs.

A recent Missouri Supreme Court decision also may have an adverse affect on the state budget picture. The court ruled that interest earned from the investment of money from the state highway trust fund had been credited improperly to the state treasury. The decision means about $14 million may have to be paid from the state's general revenue funds to the highway trust fund.

Bond also has stated that $30 million of any balance in the state treasury should be considered as unspendable to meet any financial emergencies in order to leave enough money on hand on any day to pay the state's bills.

Although Missouri state government is expected to receive $117.7 million in federal revenue- sharing funds from January 1973 through the end of the 1974-75 fiscal year, the money will not be used to provide any relief for the state operating budget.

Bond and some legislators believe that the federal revenue sharing funds should be used only for one-time expenditures, such as the construction and repair of state buildings. They have expressed concern that the state would face a financial catastrophe if the federal money was used in the state operating budget and Congress later decided to stop the federal revenue sharing program.

SELF-DEFEATING POLICIES

South Carolina has conducted what is said to be the first statewide public opinion poll on the subject of industrial development within a state. The poll showed that South Carolinians want development. They want industry to help build wholesome, small communities. They want planned growth and diversified opportunity. All of these things industry can give. But before it can give them, people must be made aware of certain fundamental truths.

It must be recognized that business' greatest social obligation is to produce needed goods and services and earn a profit. Coercive and punishing regulations for regulations sake and taxation that forces business to subsidize slothful and nonproductive elements of society, and infinitum, are the greatest enemies of the very kind of intelligent industrial development most people want. To get healthy growth and opportunity, we must recognize the principles by which industry is compelled to live -- principles of productivity, profit and the incentives that give substance to private initiative. Tax policies and political philosophies that ignore these principles represent sheer self-serving political opportunism that, in the long run, ends by victimizing, not industry but all of the people.

MEANING OF THE WORD

Reams of newspaper publicity concerning drug abuse can have a side effect almost as dangerous to health as drug addiction itself. That side effect is a tendency to confuse medicinal, lifesaving drugs with the kind used promiscuously and illegally by addicts -- the kind that destroy minds and bodies. As a matter of fact, the nation's leading pharmaceutical manufacturers, who develop and produce healing prescription drugs, have become a spearhead of research efforts to find a cure for drug addiction. In addition, the prescription drug industry works closely with authorities to preven the diversion of legitimate medicines into illegitimate channels while endeavoring to clarify public understanding of the word, "drugs."

An advertisement of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association points out that, "The very word has become loaded with implications and meanings: social, legal, medical, philosophical." It adds that its member companies which make today's medicines "... intend what we make to be used as medicine. Prescribed by a physician, dispensed by a pharmacist, taken as directed." The advertisement recognizes that drug abuse "... is a severe national problem," and emphasizes: "Our companies with related research experience have accelerated their prograsm, looking for effective narcotic antagonists. So far no miracles. But our commitment has been made. To research, to drug education, and to continue our support of legislation to combat illegal drug usage."

Much of today's longevity of life is attributable to appropriate use of "drugs." It is unfortunate, even tragic, that a word that means so much to the maintenance of good health is also a word that denotes one of the greatest evils of society.

Selling 'Labor Peace': Powerful Left- Wing Unionists Charged With Shaking Down Big Supermarket Chains

NEW YORK-- Some leaders of this vital national union have a knee- jerk affection for world Communist personalities while some of its officials have a devout affection for capitalist cash-- other people's cash. Rarely did a fortnight go by but that the sprawling Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen union didn't advise world figures, ranging from President Nixon to Pope Paul, on just how to direct their political and pastoral domains.

What the national chiefs of this Chicago- based 600,000- member union-- whose dues-payers are in the gut of our food and retail industry-- appeared to overlook was what a Justice Department anti-organized crime strike force has just called a pattern of racketeering in one huge section of the "Amalgamaged."

A complex set of indictments has just been handed down in this Southern District of New York charging that powerful regional officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters sold "labor peace" and "good will." And at a well-inflated price. Meaning, of course, if the crusading young men in charge of the New York Joint Strike Force against Organized Crime and Racketeering are right, at least one powerful left- wing intellectual-- international vice president Irving Stern-- sold out his people.

It means pay as you go if you are an executive of big retail food chains who doesn't want strikes, pressure, tough grievance sessions and general harassment, slowdowns, etc.

In all, according to the indictments, some $135,000 was taken in this "pattern of racketeering." If the charges are provable-- and they have been carefully worked out by the strike force leaders, Mike Shaw, his deputy Bill Aaronwald and U. S. Attorney Paul Curran (all between the ages of 30 and 40)-- this is a case of simple labor terror.

Stern, who had an articulate distaste for many to the political right of Fidel Castro, allegedly shook down supermarket chain executives for some $28,300. He and two other officials of the big Local 342 here allegedly took cash in diners, posh motels, on streets near the Luxor Baths off Broadway and on Park Avenue near the Waldorf Astoria.

The network of indictments ties him in with the local's president, Nick Abondolo and secretary- treasurer Moe Fliss. According to the charges the accused, at one time or another, in different combinations, took $2,000 a month for almost two years, or $1,000 every three months or in other amounts of cash from supermarket executives.

The 56- year- old Stern, who had preached proletarian ethics for decades, is charged with the others, with "requesting, demanding, receiving and accepting payments and deliveries of money from employers."

This was done "through a pattern of racketeering activity," says the government.

There was a "systematic pattern of cash payoffs in the meat industry," says Paul Curran. Small wonder Stern could maintain a fine suburban home and live like a country squire while orating like a give-them- hell popular- frontist. It is the national union of which he is vice president which recently removed from its constitution a clause banning Communists from membership.

It is this union which permitted one of its vice presidents to fly to Hanoi and return with critical reports of American action in South Vietnam. It is this union which recently called on the White House to end postwar aid to Saigon.

That is this national union's privilege. But it is not its privilege to permit such men as the accused to sell out their people-- as the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service charge.

Further, Stern is director of organization of this big local whose demands add up the cost of meats and foods to millions of working people. He is president of the Greater New York Labor Food Council, made up of 22 retail food local unions in the metropolitan area and a member of the Cost of Living Council's informal tripartite committee for mediation and improving collective bargaining (no less) of the American food industry.

But these indictments merely are prelude, it appears. George Alberts, acting district director Internal Revenue Service, Manhattan district, says that similar industrywide investigations are currently under way.

And there are veterans of the district attorney's office here who know of ties between some of the others indicted with friends of some mighty grim sub- world characters in this organized crime capital. This is not just a provincial matter for the many millions who buy food here-- but of critical interest to the meatpacking and other food industries away out yonder.

When this full story finally is told, it will affect a vast part of this nation-- since buyers of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of meats are involved.

Perhaps the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' national leaders can narrow their horizons, stop advising the great long enough to protect their members and fellow workers.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

McCord's Typewriter Tapes

WASHINGTON-- News accounts of this week report that a CIA operative stood by while Mrs. James McCord, wife of the Waterbugger, burned papers following the arrest of her husband inside the Watergate.

We have now learned that there were two incinerations in the McCord fireplace. The first fire, indeed, caused smoke damage after the damper closed and the smoke billowed through the house.

CIA consultant Lee Pennington attended the second burning. He swears that Ruth McCord burned only old magazine articles, letters and clippings but not any Watergate- related documents. Two folders with CIA material in them, one merely retirement papers, were intact when he saw them, he told us.

But two days earlier, we have now learned, she destroyed a tangle of old typewriter ribbons in the fireplace. These had been removed by McCord, an ex-CIA agent, from President Nixon's campaign headquarters.

An expert could determine from the ribbons what had been written on the typewriters. Because the ribbons fouled the campaign committee's famous shredders, McCord had taken them home in paper bags to destroy.

When he was arrested during the Watergate break- in, his loyal wife was worried over what to do with the bag stuffed with typewriter ribbons. She decided to incinerate them in the fireplace, rather than leave them in the trash for the FBI to find.

Pennington told us he didn't learn until later about the burning of the typewriter tapes. He saw the smoke damage but assumed it had been caused by the second fire, he said.

Like a good agent, he reported the burning to the CIA. His secret report, which he insists was badly garbled by the time the CIA got it into memo form, lay in CIA files for 18 months until it was turned up by a CIA employe a few weeks ago. The CIA then turned it over to Watergate investigators.

They seem satisfied no papers were burned in the second fire that tied the CIA to the Watergate break- in, as they had originally suspected. But they wonder what evidence, if any, was destroyed on the typewriter ribbons.

Footnote: The CIA refused comment. Pennington spoke candidly with us of his visit to the McCord home. McCord's attorney, Bernard Fensterwald, confirmed that our account of the incident was "basically correct."

MYSTERY CONGRESSMAN: Attorney General William Saxbe titillated reporters recently by telling them about a mystery congressman who came to him seeking clearance for Jimmy Hoffa to engage in Teamster Union politics.

We have now been able to identify Hoffa's mysterious errand boy as Rep. Larry Williams, R- Pa. Our sources say Williams not only approached Saxbe but buttonholed President Nixon at a White House Christmas party.

The irrepressible Hoffa, whose prison sentence for jury tampering was commuted by the President, is eager to regain his old post as Teamsters chief. The government claims his presidential pardon bars him from involvement in Teamsters politics, but Hoffa insists that it became unconditional after March 10, 1973.

To press Hoffa's case, Williams sought an appointment on February 4 with Saxbe and showed up with a Hoffa ally, Al Cohen. Earlier, Williams twice cornered President Nixon and talked to him about Hoffa at a Christmas party. Sources with direct knowledge of the incident tell us that, the second time, the President told Williams with some irritation: "Larry, I got your message."

Williams denied to us that he spoke to Nixon about Hoffa but confirmed he attended the party. Williams also confirmed that "a representative of the Teamsters Union, Al Cohen, asked me to set up a meeting" with the attorney general.

A spokesman for the attorney general told us that Saxbe was unaware that the congressman was bringing Cohen along.

HOT MESSAGE: As evidence that the snooper mentality is still strong inside the government, the Veterans Administration on March 22 relayed a secret message over its hot line to regional directors to report to Washington "any intelligence" about possible veterans' demonstrations.

"Some information has been received," states the message, "to the effect that the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, Winter Volunteers Organization and similar organizations may demonstrate at VA hospitals and regional offices on or around March 29.

"Confrontations may occur in regard to amnesty and upgrading of military discharges and may include demonstrations and sit-ins....Any intelligence gathered should be reported to Mr. Bill Rettew, Ext. 3093, home phone...."

Boy Scouts to get new lodge

The planned 1,380 square- foot lodge at Lake Wappapello for Boy Scouts in the Southeast Missouri Council is expected to be ready for use by the summer of 1975, Jerry Beckner of Cape Girardeau, council executive, told members of the council executive board Thursday night at Sikeston Junior High School. Construction will begin in September or October, upon approval from Boy Scout national headquarters in Washington, D. C. The building, which would be located seven miles south of Greenville on Lake Wappapello, would have a bunk room with 30 bunk beds, meeting room with a fireplace, kitchen and shower room.

Camp food will cost more, executive board told

Food for Boy Scout Camp Lewallen at Lake Wappapello this summer will cost 15 to 20 per cent more than previously, Joe Kiser of Piedmont, council camping chairman, told members of the Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council executive board Thursday night at Sikeston Junior High School.

Kiser said he had talked with three suppliers who predicted the cost increase, but indicated there would be no shortage of food.

Jerry Beckner of Cape Girardeau, council executive, told the board that a 1,380 square- foot new building planned on Lake Wappapello is expected to be ready for use by Boy Scouts during the summer of 1975. Plans for the building were approved at the February board meeting.

If the plans are approved by the national headquarters in Washington, D. C., construction will begin in September or October, with the local council supplying all materials and the Job Corps of Puxico providing the labor.

The building will be located on 60 acres of land seven miles south of Greenville on the northern edge of Lake Wappapello. The building will act as a terminal point for a 40- mile canoe trail which starts at Camp Lewallen.

The building plan provides floor space for a bunkroom with 30 bunk beds, meeting room with fireplace, kitchen and shower room.

The estimated cost is $12,000, with funds donated by Ellery B. Poole of Poplar Bluff, a long- time scouter who died in January 1970, Beckner said.

Beckner also announced that May 18 will be ladies day at Camp Lewallen — a day of activities for scoutmasters and their wives.

Irven Schlief of Doniphan, chairman of the training committee, announced that a scoutmaster training session will be held April 12-13 at Camp Lewallen and a troop leader development camp June 9-15.

The executive board voted to adopt a Current River leadership expedition program, subject to funding. The initial cost for the 10-day float trip would be $4,000.

Ken Myles of Cape Girardeau, exploring chairman, announced that involving a barbecue and boating expedition, will be held Aug. 10 at Lake Wappapello.

Max Mull of Cape Girardeau was elected as a new member to the executive board at Thursday's meeting.

Upcoming activities and deadlines were announced by Vic Hill, of Cape Girardeau, activities chairman. All scout districts in Southeast Missouri will hold scout-o-ramas Saturday and have planned their camporees for May 3-5, Hill announced.

He added that all applications for the Philmont Expedition this summer at Cimarron, N. M., are due in the Southeast Missouri Council office in Cape Girardeau by May 1, as are applications for the world jamboree to be held July 29-Aug. 7, 1975 in Oslo, Norway.

Three Boy Scouts may attend the worldwide event from the Southeast Missouri Council.

Webelos Day at Camp Lewallen will be held July 13, Hill announced, and a public speaking contest is planned for 1975. The contest will have two categories, one for Eagle Scouts who are 18 or under by Feb. 1, 1974, and another for Explorer Scouts, who must be under age 21 on that date.

The Southeast Missouri Council will hold its contest in September. The regional contest is scheduled for Nov. 15 and a national contest will follow. Winner of the national contest will receive $2,500 and a trip to Washington, D. C.

Beckner announced the resignation of Phillip Dixon of Cape Girardeau, Shawnee District scout executive.

He also announced that the Howardville medical explorer post visited a hospital in Little Rock, Ark., and attended a one- hour open heart operation.

Senate passes bill to sell land to Sikeston

The Missouri Senate has passed House Bill 1271, which would sell one- half acre of state- owned land to the city of Sikeston for $1.

The land is a small triangle- shaped piece of property located along Plaza Drive on the northwest corner of the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic property.

The bill was introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. C. F. Cline of Sikeston.

Cline said the bill now goes to Gov. Christopher Bond. Cline said he believes Bond will sign the bill.

The property can be used for a street, right of way or any other purpose the city should decide.

City officials have not yet decided what they will do with the land.

$4 million damage suit against sheriff dropped

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A $4,525,000 damage suit filed March 22 in U. S. District Court by Henry "Hank" Dale of Lilbourn, president of United Steel Workers of America Local 7686 against New Madrid County Sheriff W. L. "Cowboy" Ramsey was dropped Wednesday by Dale, according to the district court clerk, who did not disclose the charges filed.

Dale, who is attending a union convention in Kansas City and was not available for comment today, was arrested the night of Feb. 27 following a dispute between Dale and a union member at the union hall in Marston. He was charged with exhibiting a dangerous and deadly weapon.

Union members have been on strike since Jan. 31 at Noranda Aluminum Inc. in St. Jude Industrial Park near Marston following expiration of a contract.

While Dale was confined at the county jail, he sustained a beating allegedly committed by cellmates. He underwent surgery March 3 in Methodist Hospital at Memphis, Tenn. The operation involved surgery on his right eye and nose. Dale also received a broken cheekbone and jaw in the beating.

Ann Landers

Girl says her family better off with parents divorced

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 12- year- old girl who has something to say to a lot of kids who are in the same spot I'm in. My parents are divorced.

I'm the youngest of four kids. We all live with Mom, but we see Dad every two weeks and write him letters whenever we feel like it. This might not be nice to say, but I'm glad my folks got a divorce. When Dad was home, he and Mom fought all the time and it made us kids very nervous. Mom had headaches and Dad had stomach aches. Now they both feel fine and treat each other like friends instead of enemies.

Us kids feel better, too. My little brother has stopped stuttering and I don't shake like I used to when I was afraid my dad might lose his temper and slap my mother.

So, kids, if your parents are separated or divorced, it probably means they had to do it for their health's sake, and for yours, too. So cheer up and don't feel sad.-- I Understand

Dear I.U.: For a young lady of 12 you have a beautiful set of brains. Congratulations on figuring things out so well. I hope your letter helps other kids who are walking in the same moccasins.

Dear Ann Landers: May I comment on that letter from the senior citizens (late 60s for her, early 70s for him) who found love the second time around? Oh, how glorious it was! No worries about pregnancies, no troublesome kids, no burning desire to corner all the money in the world-- it sounds divine. So my old goat hands it to me and says, "See, Ann Landers approves of what I am doing."

Well, what he is doing (after nearly 50 years of marriage) is chasing every widow and divorced woman in town. I'm not saying he is catching many, but it's not for lack of trying. He insists that just because I am worn out (not interested in sex)-he has the right to enjoy himself if he feels like it.

Don't suggest divorce. I couldn't face it and he doesn't want it. I can still cook, do his laundry and keep the house clean.

I wrote to you a while back saying some women lose interest in sex after a hysterectomy. Your medical experts said most of the problem is in the head. Well, wherever it is I have it, and I resent being told I am nuts.

Furthermore, if a couple loves each other, it shouldn't make any difference if they have no sex after 65. They'd still have respect and companionship. I dare you to print this.-- Peoria

Dear P.: That dirty old man you are married to got no O. K. from me to run around. Those senior citizens who were having such a rollicking love affair were a couple of long-time friends who had lost their mates and were soon to be married.

Some women do lose interest in sex after a hysterectomy, but it is largely an emotional problem and not physical. (The lost estrogen due to the removal of the ovaries can be replaced by medication.)

You are right when you say that if a couple love each other they can still have respect and companionship without sex. But if a woman loves and respects her husband, she could continue to have sex to please him, even though she didn't get much out of it. Your situation is quite different. You are married to an alley cat who treats you shabbily and you are bitter and resentful. You didn't ask for advice, however, just a chance to sound off. So here's your letter and I hope you feel better seeing it in print.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers's booklet, "Marriage-- What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654, enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The case of the miraculous shrine

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Peter was so sick when he went to the hospital for an operation, he couldn't even take a turn for the nurse. And, after the surgery, the only turning he did was to religion.

He became such a true believer, in fact, that he practically crawled off to Europe where he did his recuperating before a shrine world- famous for bringing about miraculous cures.

One ailment it didn't cure, however, was the severe pain in the neck Peter gave the Internal Revenue Service when he subsequently deducted the cost of his European trip from his income taxes as a medical expense.

"You can't do that," protested the staunch men of the IRS. "You went to Europe to visit a shrine, not a doctor."

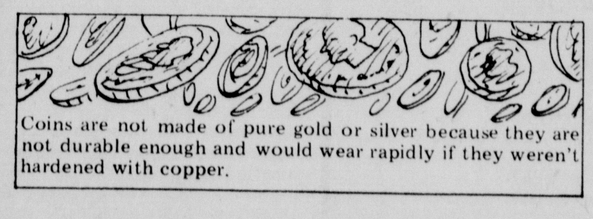

"That's absolutely true," conceded Peter. "But, physically and mentally, that shrine did me more good than a convention of doctors. When I got back, I felt like a million bucks. Before I went, I could hardly walk. After my return, I couldn't stop running."

Stalemated, the dispute ended up in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you consider the trip to the miraculous shrine tax deductible?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that there is no provision in the tax law that would permit the cost of a trip to obtain spiritual help in alleviating a physical defect as a medical expense.

(Based upon a 1955 United States Tax Court Decision)

McClarty carries big bat at SEMO

CAPE GIRARDEAU– Weather willing, Southeast Missouri State University will open the 1974 MIAA baseball season Saturday in Warrensburg.

The Indian diamondmen, like all other spring sports teams, have been at the mercy of the weather as they face the problem of cancelling and rescheduling games.

After getting in a twinbill against Christian Brothers College of Memphis where they won 5- 1 and 6- 1, the Indians had three doubleheaders snowed and rained out.

The Tribe managed Tuesday to get in a pair of games against a tough Western Illinois squad. The teams split, with the Indians losing the opener 3- 2 and taking the nightcap 6- 3.

Anxious to get in another doubleheader before Saturday's league opener, Indian coach Joe Uhls set up a pair of games against Christian Brothers College for Thursday and won a doubleheader, 9- 5 and 2- 0.

Charlie Vickery of Chaffee and Jim Noon of Scott City picked up the wins for the Tribe. Vickery teamed with Terry Bazzel for a one hitter in the opening game victory while Freshman Noon fashioned a three hitter.

Lilbourn's Pat McClarty continued to carry a big bat for Southeast, going three for six in the twinbill with a pair of triples. Dave Holdinghausen homered and tripled for the Indians.

The victory raised coach Uhls record to 150 and sends his tribesmen to Warrensburg with a 5- 1 season slate.

Uhls says he is anticipating a tough pair of games in the conference openers.

Central Missouri State University has 12 games under its belt.

The Mules' bright spot is pitching where they feature three topnotch hurlers.

Central Missouri State has two transfers from the University of Missouri-- Rolla on the mound staff along with one ace from last year's staff.

Experience is certainly not a problem for the Mules as they boast 20 returning lettermen from the '73 squad.

Uhls was very pleased with the Tribe's initial appearance of the season in Memphis when they took a pair from OBC.

The veteran coach declared, "We played a good game defensively, had timely hitting, and fine pitching."

Galen McSpadden began his senior season on the right foot in the first game by holding the Buccaneers to three hits and one run.

In the second game Sikeston sophomore Bob Blankenship gave up five hits and a run enroute to victory.

Mark Amick, a senior from Scott City, had five hits for the day, while Lilbourn's Mike Dambach had four hits and Pat McClarty, also from Lilbourn, had three hits and four RBI's for the day.

Against Western Illinois the Tribe suffered a defensive breakdown. Uhls explained, "Defensively we didn't do too well. We had a lot of errors which cost us the first game and almost the second.

The Indian chief was also disappointed with some of the pitching in the games.

Festus senior Steve Elfrank won the second game of the twinbill for the Tribe.

For the day Amick had a home run, McClarty had four hits, and Gary Wengert of St. Marys had a bases- loaded double to ignite the Tribe's offensive attack in the second game which they won.

After Saturday's games the Indians will be idle until April 3 when they host Moorhead, Minn., in a 1 p.m. twinbill at Capaha Park.

Red Devils topple KHS

CHAFFEE — The CHS Red Devils surprised Kelly here Thursday afternoon, handing the Hawks their first defeat of the young season 4-3.

Kenny Urhahn started on the Mound for the Hawks and suffered the defeat in his initial start.

Bess picked up the Scott-Mississippi conference win for the Red Devils after Little slapped a two run homer in the bottom of the sixth to give CHS a come from behind victory.

Kelly jumped out in front in the top of the first inning and Urhahn gave up the tying run in the bottom of the frame. The Hawks went ahead by one run in the top of the third and Jeff Jackson added an insurance run in the top of the sixth with a homerun over the centerfield fence.

Kelly's rightfielder dropped a sure out in the bottom of the sixth and allowed Little to come to bat and smack his homer over the rightfield fence to pull out the victory. Urhahn didn't have his good stuff in the first start of the year but fanned nine batters in the game.

Kelly managed only four hits off Bess and two were by Jeff Jackson. Heeb collected two of the five hits off Urhahn.

Former Bootheel stars at SWBC

BOLIVER — Southwest Baptist College coach John Edwards is looking for a center to build around next season. His Bearcats finished with an 18-10 mark and lost to nationally ranked Missouri Western in the NAIA tournament.

"We are looking at about 25 players in high school and junior college that we think can play for us next year," Edwards said.

The Bearcats lost all their front line except Roy Fields, former Neelyville high school star and Three Rivers Community College standout of Poplar Bluff.

Fields is a 6-6 jumping jack with a great shooting eye to boot. Roy led TRCC in rebounding and was high on the Raiders scoring list before graduating. He averaged over 17 points a game for the Bearcats this season and led SWBC in rebounding. It was the first time that Fields has played forward for anybody. He was always a center.

Joining Fields will be former Sikeston High School star Fred Towns. The 6-7 leaper will give coach Edwards plenty of board strength for next season.

Fred played freshman ball for Murray State University before dropping out for a couple of years and enrolling at SWBC this year. Fred was ineligible this year but will have a junior status next season.

Townes was an all stater for the Sikeston Bulldogs and an all- American selection in 1968.

The POWER of FAITH

THE BIBLE

128. Samuel Anoints Saul as King

During his old age, Samuel retired and appointed his sons to judge in his place. However, his oldest sons, Joel and Abijah, became greedy and corrupt. So the leaders of Israel met with Samuel in Ramah to discuss the current state of affairs. In this meeting the leaders demanded that Samuel give them a king like the other nations had.

This turn of events disturbed Samuel greatly, and he sought God's counsel. The Lord commanded Samuel to appoint a king, but to warn the people first about the abuses of kingship they must inevitably suffer. Samuel did as he was told, but even so the people still demanded a king.

It then came to pass that the Lord revealed to Samuel that the king would be Saul, son of Kish, a Benjamite who was the largest and most handsome man in Israel. When Samuel had gathered together the various tribes, he had Saul stand before the people.

"And Samuel said to all the people, See ye him whom the Lord hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people? And the people shouted, and said, God save the king. Then Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the Lord...." (I Samuel 10:24-25)

SECOND NOVEL BY BESTSELLING AUTHOR PUBLISHED ROMANCE SET IN MEDIEVAL ENGLAND

The wolf is Wulfgar, the Iron Wolf of Normandy, a knight who pledges loyalty to the Norman King William; the Dove is Aislinn of Darkenwald, a feudal princess of Saxon blood. The story of their turbulent romance is told in THE WOLF AND THE DOVE, a novel by Kathleen E. Woodiwiss, published by Avon Books.

Set in Saxony in 1066, during the reign of William the Conqueror, THE WOLF AND THE DOVE is the story of a young woman's sexual and romantic awakening, played out against the violence of 11th- century England. In the name of his king, Wulfgar claims the lands of Darkenwald and all its people; the beautiful Aislinn he claims as his own. Determined to barter what justice she can for her defeated people, Aislinn accepts her role as mistress to a man she expects to loathe. But she is not prepared for her passionate attraction to Wulfgar, nor his to her. Between them builds a love which is tested by their divided political loyalties and the treachery of those that surround them.

THE WOLF AND THE DOVE is Mrs. Woodiwiss' second novel; her first, The Flame and the Flower, published by Avon in 1972, was a bestseller that now has over 1,000,000 copies in print. Discussing her latest book, Mrs. Woodiwiss commented: "I researched heavily for this book, and I feel that it accurately portrays a dramatic and devastating time in British history, while at the same time presenting a very human and honest love story. The Flame and the Flower was my first serious attempt at writing; THE WOLF AND THE DOVE is the result of two years of concentrated effort, and I think it is an entertaining tale presenting believable people in an accurately portrayed atmosphere."

Set for March 20 publication, THE WOLF AND THE DOVE will be launched with a record 800,000 copy first printing and a national advertising campaign.

Endlessly honed and leveled by a succession of Ice Age glaciers, Denmark has prompted neighboring Norwegians, with their wealth of mountains, to tax the Danes with the comment: "If you stand on a box you can see the whole country."

These are exciting, miraculous and many times frustrating days we are living in and the only thing that seems consistent is change itself. But as interested bystanders we must keep up with the times and try to keep in touch with everything going on about us. In the midst of all these earthshaking events, we often times lose sight of the fact that small tidbits of information are still part of the passing scene. In this column, we hope to provide you with interesting facts and keep you in touch with informative trivia.

A Waterfine Water Refiner will also help you keep up with the times. Since the water we use today is the same used by Cleopatra, thousands of years ago, water pollution has to be a concern of the modern homemaker. If you want to insure that your water is clean, sparkling and free of damaging hardness minerals get the complete story about a Waterfine Water Refiner today. Call Braswell.

Butler bound over for burglary

BLOOMFIELD — Dwight Butler, 30, of Malden was bound over to Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court before Judge Koss W. Blomeyer.

Butler is charged with the burglary of Shipman's Market, Inc. on East Stoddard Street in Dexter where meat and other items valued at approximately $2,000 were taken.

Witnesses for the state included Roy Minton, vice president of Shipman's Market, Inc.; New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Bo Wingo; Dunklin County Deputy Sheriff Bob McDonald; Stoddard County Deputy Sheriff Arthur Lee; and Bill Walls of Parma.

Walls proved to be the key witness as he testified that on the night of March 2 Butler, along with Jerry Lee Cluck and Leonard Little of Malden, brought to his home in Parma 160 cartons of cigarettes and asked him if he would fence the cigarettes for them.

He said Little told him they had taken the cigarettes from a supermarket in Dexter. He said they also had in their possession several hams but took those with them. Walls said he agreed to sell the cigarettes for $2 per carton and then hid the cigarettes in garbage bags in an outdoor toilet located near his house.

The cigarettes were located later in the week by Dunlin Deputy Sheriff Bob McDonald, who turned the merchandise over to the New Madrid County sheriff's Department, which released them to Stoddard County authorities.

Lee, the Stoddard County deputy, testified that upon a search of Butler's mobile home, located just south of Malden, he found six cartons of cigarettes and two boxes of cigars in the refrigerator of the mobile home and three packages of razor blades in the bathroom.

Minton, vice president of Shipman's Market, Inc., had previously testified as to the items taken from the market, and these were among those listed.

The arrest of Butler followed a three- month investigation by the sheriff's departments in Stoddard, New Madrid and Dunklin counties as well as law enforcement officials in Tennesses, in connection with a string of burglaries in Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Missouri.

In another case, Kenneth Wayne Barnes, 28, of Hannibal was bound over to Circuit Court for trial after he waived a preliminary hearing on a charge of fraud in connection with the purchase of a tractor from a Dexter dealer. He also faces similar charges in Scott and Mississippi counties. He is scheduled to appear in Circuit Court on April 1.

Robert A. Taylor of Bernie was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for six months under supervision, after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana.

Grace Butler of Hickman, Ky., was fined $25 on a careless and imprudent driving charge and $100 on a driving while intoxicated charge. Mrs. Butler was involved in an accident south of Dexter in which she lost control of her car at a high rate of speed and struck a utility pole.

The driving while intoxicated charge was determined by a blood sample taken at Dexter Memorial Hospital, where she was treated following the accident.

Billy Lee Allison of Advance, charged with destroying private property of his former mother-in-law, appeared in court and produced proof that he had made restitution. He was then given a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

Henry B. Long was fined $15 after pleading guilty to a charge of slashing the tires on an automobile belonging to his former wife.

Johnny Dewitt Deberry of Dexter was fined $15 and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence on a charge of driving while his license is revoked.

Larry Eugene Parker of Dudley pleaded not guilty to charges of driving while his license is revoked and driving with an out-of-state vehicle license. Trial was set for April 11.

Three cases continued for an indefinite period included: Micheal Ray Westbrook of St. Charles, nonsupport; Joan Davenport, intent to defraud; and Wolford K. Flannery, driving while license is under revocation.

Dewey Glen Smith and David Franklin Williamson of Bloomfield, both charged with driving while license is revoked, pleaded not guilty, and both trials were set for April 11.

Fines were imposed for speeding against David Langley of Malden, $14, Eddie John Dettrie of Campbell, $19, Joe L. Fuemmeler of Campbell $13, Charles A. Hendley of Bloomfield, $15; George Wilson of Poplar Bluff, $18, Dale LaFout of Malden, $21, John Neil Grindstaff of Bernie, $10, and Lawrence Cole, $16.

Three others paying fines for traffic violations were Orval J. Grimes of Bernie, expired operators license, $10; Thomas Ray Smith, careless and imprudent driving while drinking, $25; and Howard L. Nash of Coldwater, no operator's license, $15.

I wish to express my deepest gratitude for your vote of confidence in the primary election.

Three months ago my workers and I started our campaign, fighting impossible odds and passed the primary election.

We haven't and will not give up! We've caught our second wind and are working harder and smarter.

Our campaign raised $390.00 in small donations from many concerned citizens. $285.00 was spent in offering RED BALL to the citizens of Sikeston. The rest was spent in the primary election.

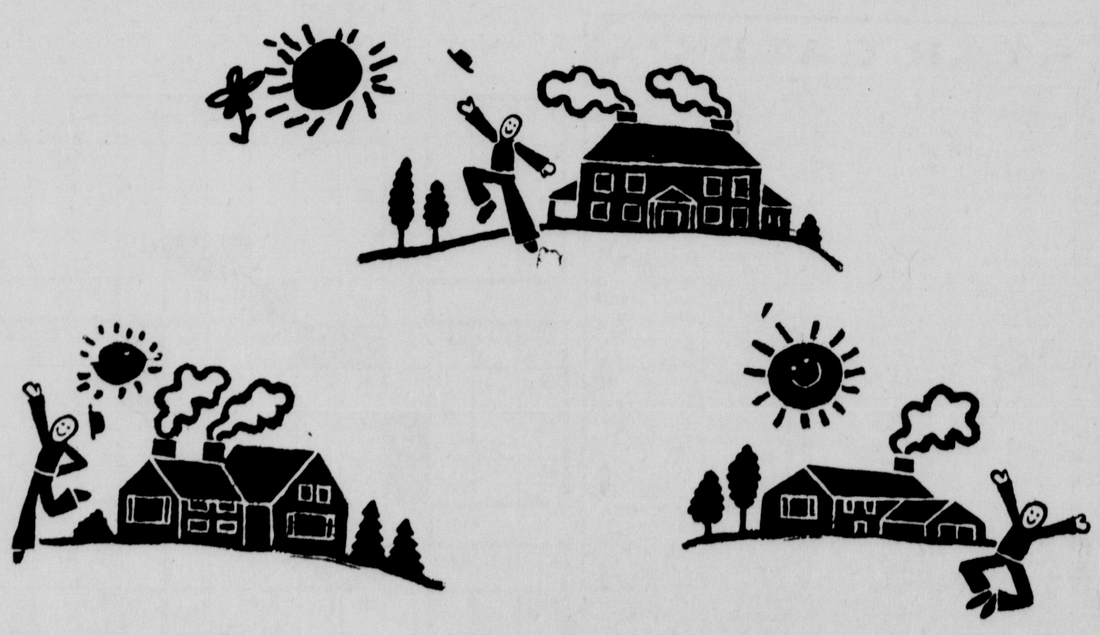

My platform has and always will be, to put more life, progressiveness, and responsiveness in our Local Government. If you feel the need as I do, express your feelings by casting one vote and that vote for me, on April 2nd.

Our election and principles are in your hands. Our advertising is your vocal support.

GRAMMY SALUTES OSCAR
In Color, Saturday, March 30, 1974 9:00- 10:00 PM

GRAMMY SALUTES OSCAR, a sparkling hour- long special spotlighting the music of the movies since the beginning of the annual Oscar awards, will be broadcast Saturday, March 30th on the CBS Television Network. Gene Kelly-- himself an Oscar winner in 1951 for his achievements in film choreography-- will host the program.

Mr. Kelly will present famous stars who made music and motion picture history during the 1930's, 40's, 50's and 60's, many who also have won Grammy as well as Oscar awards. This impressive group of entertainers include: Frankie Avalon, Janet Blair, Cyd Charisse, Rosemary Clooney, John Green, Dick Haymes, Jack Jones, Gordon MacRae, Henry Mancini, the Johnny Mann Singers, Tony Martin, Ann Miller, Dennis Morgan, Gene Nelson, Buddy Rogers, Dionne Warwick and Jane Withers.

The special opens with Gene Kelly introducing a few of the mechanical inventions that made the era of sound motion pictures possible: Thomas Edison's movie projector called the "kinetascope;" and his original "talking machine." Then the program swings into a medley of memorable hit songs that received the Oscar Award.

As Kelly points out, the first real movie musical was "Broadway Melody" in 1929; it was "all talking, all singing-- all dancing." The following Thirties gave birth to some of the most famous names in show business; stars like Fred Astaire, Maurice Chevalier, Nelson Eddy, Rudy Vallee and Bing Crosby. And Busby Berkely was King of the Musicals. In song and dance routines, guest stars Jane Withers, Buddy Rogers and Tony Martin portray the Oscar hits of the 30's, including "Sweet Leilani," "The Way You Look Tonight," and "Over The Rainbow" from the musical "Wizard of Oz."

In the program's middle segment, the golden years of Oscar- winning songs are spotlighted-- that 20 year period during the 40's and 50's. The first Oscar winner from this era is "When You Wish Upon A Star," the nostalgic melody known to millions around the world from Walt Disney's "Pinnochio." Dick Haymes, Ann Miller, Janet Blair, Gordon MacRae, Gene Nelson and Frankie Avalon sing a host of winners during this period, such as "Zip- A- Dee- Doo- Dah," "High Noon," "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing" and "Gigi."

Bond says he will sign consumer bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill hailed by the governor as "the most significant consumer legislation in several years," is on the way to the governor's desk.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond said Thursday he will sign next week a bill abolishing the holder-in-due-course doctrine, which now permits a seller of goods or services to escape liability for the product by selling the contract to a bank or financing company, which is not liable for the defective product.

The measure, approved by the Senate Thursday, makes the bank liable for performing on the product within 90 days with regard to a product such as a refrigerator. For services, such as a health club, there is no time limit for the buyer seeking a remedy.

The measure would apparently not cover automobiles or other products protected by a warranty.

Bond said that when he worked in the consumer protection of the attorney general's office, the holder-in-due-course problem was existent in 80 per cent of the consumer fraud cases.

"The bill ensures the virtual end of fly-by-night operations defrauding the citizens of our state," said one of the sponsors, Rep. Kenneth Rothman, D-Clayton.

Bond said it would help crack down on franchise sellers and pyramid sales schemes.

"It will make lending companies more careful about the kind of contracts they purchase, and therefore help ensure Missouri consumers of more reliable services," Rothman said.

The bill take effect Aug. 13.

At present, for example, a person can sell a refrigerator on an installment plan, sell the contract to a bank and leave town with the money. If the refrigerator doesn't work, the bank continues to collect the payments and can't be forced to provide a new refrigerator.

Voting against the bill on a 19-5 vote in the Senate were Sens. Paul Bradshaw, R-Springfield, Norman Merrell, D-Monticello, John Ryan, R-Sedalia, Truman Wilson, D-St. Joseph, and Nelson Tinnin, D-Hornersville.

The House, meanwhile, concluded the week with a busy day by approving campaign financing reform, a bill to prohibit some corporate farming operations and a measure regulating abortions. The bills now go to the Senate.

Killed 74-72, without the necessary 82 yes votes, was a measure to allow the state Public Service Commission to regulate rural electrical cooperatives and divide up the state into service areas for them.

The campaign reform bill, extensively debated, says all candidates who spend more than $500 in contributions or his own money must report to the secretary of state.

He must report all contributions of over $25 with the name of the person contributing the money. Contributions of under $25 must be reported in total but the name of the contributor does not have to be reported.

Expenses and contributions must be reported 30 days and seven days before an election and 30 days after.

Under a total spending formula, a candidate for governor could not spend more than about $300,000 during one campaign. The limit would apply to the

Club opens for teens

The 21 Club, 1100 W. Malone Ave., has reopened as a teen club under the sponsorship of auxiliary policeman Larry Browning and police Lt. Walter Wilson teen-agers and any parents who want to come, Browning said.

He promised the club would be well supervised. No alcoholic beverages or drugs will be allowed, he said.

The club's hours are from 3:30 p.m. to midnight and from 9 a.m. to midnight on Saturdays. In addition, Browning said, all city curfew laws must be observed by the teen-agers.

A band has signed to play next Friday, but Browning was still looking for a band to perform tonight and Saturday. Browning said the club will have bands on the weekends and a jukebox during the week.

Other entertainment will be provided by coin-operated games.

There may be a cover charge for admission on nights bands are performing, Browning said. The charge is necessary to pay the cost of the band, he said.

Browning said a meeting of teen-agers who attend the club will be held at 5 p.m. today to elect a six-member rules committee. The committee members will all be teen-agers, he said.

The club is a non-profit project, he said, and will be operated only as a place for teens to gather. The club is being financed primarily by Browning and Wilson. Browning said he hopes to earn enough money from the coin-operated games to pay the rent on the building.

Besides the rules the teen rules committee institutes, the following rules will also apply. No drugs or alcoholic beverages are allowed in the building or on the parking lot. Violators will be prosecuted. The rule is in force for parents, also.

No fighting or use of profane language will be allowed by either the children or their parents.

All police officers are welcome at any time, including auxiliary police and cadets. When there is a cover charge for a band, police cadets and their dates will be admitted free.

The club is under the supervision of adults at all times.

Proposed Chamber building

The Chamber of Commerce Thursday gave final approval to plans for the construction of an office building at the entrance to the airport. In the drawing, the top view shows the entrance to the building. The bottom view shows the floor plan. Construction is expected to be completed in three months.

Chamber lets contract for new office building

The Chamber of Commerce Thursday authorized construction of a 1,000 square- foot building to house chamber offices.

The building will be built at the northeast corner of Airport and Industrial drives at a cost of $24,913.

The brick veneer building will contain a meeting room, office, reception and display area and storage facilities.

Construction is set to begin in a week to 10 days, with completion expected in three months. Ray Construction Co. has been awarded the contract to build the office.

The decision to build at the corner of Airport and Industrial drive was made because the site is on city property, is easily accessible, can be seen from the highway and is centrally located with easy access to any part of Sikeston.

The half- acre site is being leased from the city for $600. The lease runs for 50 years.

"AN EYE FOR AN EYE"

Restoration of the death penalty, now being considered in Congress, should be weighed more carefully before it is put into effect in any form.

The only valid argument for the death penalty is that it will act as a deterrent to murderous criminals. Statistics have been advanced to prove both that it is a deterrent and that it is not.

The Senate recently passed a bill calling for mandatory death sentences as the penalty for a number of high crimes including espionage, killing during kidnapping, skyjacking, treason, and assassination of the President, Vice President, the Chief Justice, the head of a foreign state, or a federal law enforcement officer.

Persons convicted of such vicious crimes as these undoubtedly deserve the most severe penalties that can be handed out to them under the law. But whether or not the ultimate penalty should be death has deep moral aspects.

Humanity is slowly emerging from the primitive state where it was demanded that the punishment fit the crime. Great efforts are being made to rehabilitate those who violate the laws of the land. We are moving away from the belief that harsh punishments, including long periods of confinement behind bars, are the solution to rising crime rates.

However, we are passing through a period where assassination, skyjacking, kidnapping, and murder is on the increase. It must be stopped before it becomes so rampant that citizens are not safe to pursue their daily lives.

The question to be faced is whether the restoration of the death penalty will turn the tide downward or will simply satisfy a desire or revenge. We believe a better solution would be to incarcerate such vicious criminals in maximum security facilities and deny them parole.

COURT REVERSAL

Whether or not Richard M. Nixon serves out the remainder of his second presidential term, the effects of his first term will be felt by American society for perhaps a generation.

Where five years ago the U. S. Supreme Court was generally viewed as the champion of blacks and criminal defendants and antiwar dissidents and every other minority, today civil libertarians are deliberately NOT appealing adverse lower court decisions, even those they believe violate past Supreme Court decisions.

The reason is fear that the "Burger court," on which sit four Nixon appointees, will use the cases as an opportunity to reverse precedents set by the "Warren court."

Landmark decisions that have already been modified include the Miranda ruling on self-incrimination and the Mapp ruling on illegally seized evidence.

This is something new under the American sun — people avoiding the nation's highest court, the judicial guardian of its liberties, out of fear that what they will get will be less not more, liberty.

INFLATION, FALLING REVENUE MAY FORCE UP MISSOURI TAX

Although a large balance has accumulated in the Missouri state treasury, the prospect of a sagging economy and higher state costs has reinformced the belief in the Missouri capitol that the General Assembly will have to consider a tax increase.

In outlining his proposed budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year, Gov. Christopher S. Bond in November said a tax increase would be necessary if the General Assembly did not take a conservative approach to finances.

Since that time continued inflation in state costs and signs that tax receipts for the state may fall have strengthened the concern about a possible tax increase.

"We're living off the past year's surplus forever," Mark L. Edelman, Bond's budget director, said. "We could be in trouble within two years if the present economic trends continue."

However the Bond administration has made no contingency plans for when the year-end balances in state funds are depleted. Whether a tax increase will be proposed by Bond for state programs and services reduced has not been decided, Edelman said.

"It (a tax increase) isn't a delightful prospect; the governor doesn't like the idea of a tax increase on its merits or politically," Edelman said. "But if the General Assemlly keeps passing big money bills, the pressure (for a tax increase), is hard to resist."

The president financial picture for Missouri state government is following a familiar pattern. After a tax increase, surpluses are built up over several years, then the state starts new programs and operates on deficit budgets until the surplus is depleted and another tax increase is needed.

In December 1970 the legislature approved increases in the corporate and individual income taxes after state agencies were cut back in their budgets by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes when state tax revenue fell below the anticipated amounts.

After the income tax increase, state cash balance increased from $7.4 million on July 1, 1971, to $26.6 million at the same time in 1972 and to $92.3 million on July 1, 1973.

Part of the jump in the balance from 1972 to 1973 is attributed to a one-time windfall of about $37 million that resulted when the state changed its tax collection procedures and received income tax revenue for 14 months in the 12-month 1972-73 fiscal year.

A booming economy in 1972 and last year was reflected in increased sales and income tax receipts, Missouri officials said.

The Missouri situation is in contrast, in past, with Kansas and Iowa where state officials have attributed large balances in the state treasuries to boosts in state receipts as a result of increased farm income and other personal and corporate income.

The $92.3 million balance in the Missouri state treasury will start to evaporate this year to cover a deficit budget that was approved for the 1973-74 fiscal year by the Democratic - controlled General Assembly and Bond, the Republican governor.

The budget calls for the expenditure of about $598 million of state funds in the current fiscal year and reducing the balance to $88.3 million on July 1, 1974. The over-all state budget for the current year is $2,081 billion, including a federal and other restricted funds.

New programs approved last year by the legislature and by Bond helped push the current year's budget into the red. They include property tax relief for the elderly, which will cost about $13 million, and increased payments for aid to dependent children, $8.4 million. State aid to school districts also was increased by $21.2 million for the current fiscal year.

Bond's recommended budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year proposes the expenditure oof about $1.021 billion in state funds and reducing the balance in the state treasury to about $80 million on July 1, 1975. The proposed $1974-75 budget reflects a new expenditure of about $7.8 million for a comprehensive special education program that was authorized last year by the legislature and by Bond. The governor also has proposed adding another $15 million to state aid for school districts next year.

The estimated balance in the state treasury on July 1, 1975, would re reduced below $80 million if the legislature enacts any new programs. The General Assembly is likely to approve repeal of the personal property tax on household goods which will cost the state about $14 million to replace the revenue that will be lost by cities and other local governments.

Estimates by Bond's staff for year- end balances in 1974 and 1975 also will be overly optimistic if tax receipts are not as large as expected. Edelman said there were signs that the economy is slackening and that tax receipts may drop below expectations.

Edelman noted that less liquor taxes and less sales taxes were collected in January this year than January 1973.

"That is the first really ominous sign," Edelman commented. "The downturn is starting; it's that simple. I'm also concerned a drop in employment will affect the income tax receipts."

Higher unemployment would mean less income tax receipts for the state. Also consumers in a sagging economy would spend less money which would result in smaller sales tax receipts. In the current year the income tax is expected to account for 34.6 per cent of state receipts and the sales tax, 45.6 per cent.

A report prepared by the staff of the Senate Appropriations Committee noted a reduction in the sale of cars and other durable goods may decrease state sales tax receipts. The Senate staff report generally is less optimistic about tax receipts than Bond's proposed budget and forecasts a smaller balance in the state treasury on July 1, 1975, then projected by Bond's budget staff.

While the state may receive less tax receipts than it is anticipating, costs also are likely to be higher than originally budgeted.

"I'm concerned about inflation because of the costs we have to appropriate for," Edelman said. "To maintain the same services we have to spend more money."

Rapidly rising costs for food and for heating and motor fuel are likely to have the largest impact on the state budget. The impact already is being felt with some state agencies this year requesting appropriations for the current year to meet the higher costs.

A recent Missouri Supreme Court decision also may have an adverse affect on the state budget picture. The court ruled that interest earned from the investment of money from the state highway trust fund had been credited improperly to the state treasury. The decision means about $14 million may have to be paid from the state's general revenue funds to the highway trust fund.

Bond also has stated that $30 million of any balance in the state treasury should be considered as unspendable to meet any financial emergencies in order to leave enough money on hand on any day to pay the state's bills.

Although Missouri state government is expected to receive $117.7 million in federal revenue- sharing funds from January 1973 through the end of the 1974-75 fiscal year, the money will not be used to provide any relief for the state operating budget.

Bond and some legislators believe that the federal revenue sharing funds should be used only for one-time expenditures, such as the construction and repair of state buildings. They have expressed concern that the state would face a financial catastrophe if the federal money was used in the state operating budget and Congress later decided to stop the federal revenue sharing program.

SELF-DEFEATING POLICIES

South Carolina has conducted what is said to be the first statewide public opinion poll on the subject of industrial development within a state. The poll showed that South Carolinians want development. They want industry to help build wholesome, small communities. They want planned growth and diversified opportunity. All of these things industry can give. But before it can give them, people must be made aware of certain fundamental truths.

It must be recognized that business' greatest social obligation is to produce needed goods and services and earn a profit. Coercive and punishing regulations for regulations sake and taxation that forces business to subsidize slothful and nonproductive elements of society, and infinitum, are the greatest enemies of the very kind of intelligent industrial development most people want. To get healthy growth and opportunity, we must recognize the principles by which industry is compelled to live -- principles of productivity, profit and the incentives that give substance to private initiative. Tax policies and political philosophies that ignore these principles represent sheer self-serving political opportunism that, in the long run, ends by victimizing, not industry but all of the people.

MEANING OF THE WORD

Reams of newspaper publicity concerning drug abuse can have a side effect almost as dangerous to health as drug addiction itself. That side effect is a tendency to confuse medicinal, lifesaving drugs with the kind used promiscuously and illegally by addicts -- the kind that destroy minds and bodies. As a matter of fact, the nation's leading pharmaceutical manufacturers, who develop and produce healing prescription drugs, have become a spearhead of research efforts to find a cure for drug addiction. In addition, the prescription drug industry works closely with authorities to preven the diversion of legitimate medicines into illegitimate channels while endeavoring to clarify public understanding of the word, "drugs."

An advertisement of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association points out that, "The very word has become loaded with implications and meanings: social, legal, medical, philosophical." It adds that its member companies which make today's medicines "... intend what we make to be used as medicine. Prescribed by a physician, dispensed by a pharmacist, taken as directed." The advertisement recognizes that drug abuse "... is a severe national problem," and emphasizes: "Our companies with related research experience have accelerated their programs, looking for effective narcotic antagonists. So far no miracles. But our commitment has been made. To research, to drug education, and to continue our support of legislation to combat illegal drug usage."

Much of today's longevity of life is attributable to appropriate use of "drugs." It is unfortunate, even tragic, that a word that means so much to the maintenance of good health is also a word that denotes one of the greatest evils of society.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Selling 'Labor Peace': Powerful Left- Wing Unionists Charged With Shaking Down Big Supermarket Chains

NEW YORK-- Some leaders of this vital national union have a knee- jerk affection for world Communist personalities while some of its officials have a devout affection for capitalist cash-- other people's cash. Rarely did a fortnight go by but that the sprawling Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen union didn't advise world figures, ranging from President Nixon to Pope Paul, on just how to direct their political and pastoral domains.

What the national chiefs of this Chicago- based 600,000- member union-- whose dues-payers are in the gut of our food and retail industry-- appeared to overlook was what a Justice Department anti-organized crime strike force has just called a pattern of racketeering in one huge section of the "Amalgamaged."

A complex set of indictments has just been handed down in this Southern District of New York charging that powerful regional officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters sold "labor peace" and "good will." And at a well-inflated price. Meaning, of course, if the crusading young men in charge of the New York Joint Strike Force against Organized Crime and Racketeering are right, at least one powerful left- wing intellectual-- international vice president Irving Stern-- sold out his people.

It means pay as you go if you are an executive of big retail food chains who doesn't want strikes, pressure, tough grievance sessions and general harassment, slowdowns, etc.

In all, according to the indictments, some $135,000 was taken in this "pattern of racketeering." If the charges are provable-- and they have been carefully worked out by the strike force leaders, Mike Shaw, his deputy Bill Aaronwald and U. S. Attorney Paul Curran (all between the ages of 30 and 40)-- this is a case of simple labor terror.

Stern, who had an articulate distaste for many to the political right of Fidel Castro, allegedly shook down supermarket chain executives for some $28,300. He and two other officials of the big Local 342 here allegedly took cash in diners, posh motels, on streets near the Luxor Baths off Broadway and on Park Avenue near the Waldorf Astoria.

The network of indictments ties him in with the local's president, Nick Abondolo and secretary- treasurer Moe Fliss. According to the charges the accused, at one time or another, in different combinations, took $2,000 a month for almost two years, or $1,000 every three months or in other amounts of cash from supermarket executives.

The 56- year- old Stern, who had preached proletarian ethics for decades, is charged with the others, with "requesting, demanding, receiving and accepting payments and deliveries of money from employers."

This was done "through a pattern of racketeering activity," says the government.

There was a "systematic pattern of cash payoffs in the meat industry," says Paul Curran. Small wonder Stern could maintain a fine suburban home and live like a country squire while orating like a give-them- hell popular- frontist. It is the national union of which he is vice president which recently removed from its constitution a clause banning Communists from membership.

It is this union which permitted one of its vice presidents to fly to Hanoi and return with critical reports of American action in South Vietnam. It is this union which recently called on the White House to end postwar aid to Saigon.

That is this national union's privilege. But it is not its privilege to permit such men as the accused to sell out their people-- as the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service charge.

Further, Stern is director of organization of this big local whose demands add up the cost of meats and foods to millions of working people. He is president of the Greater New York Labor Food Council, made up of 22 retail food local unions in the metropolitan area and a member of the Cost of Living Council's informal tripartite committee for mediation and improving collective bargaining (no less) of the American food industry.

But these indictments merely are prelude, it appears. George Alberts, acting district director Internal Revenue Service, Manhattan district, says that similar industrywide investigations are currently under way.

And there are veterans of the district attorney's office here who know of ties between some of the others indicted with friends of some mighty grim sub- world characters in this organized crime capital. This is not just a provincial matter for the many millions who buy food here-- but of critical interest to the meatpacking and other food industries away out yonder.

When this full story finally is told, it will affect a vast part of this nation-- since buyers of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of meats are involved.

Perhaps the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' national leaders can narrow their horizons, stop advising the great long enough to protect their members and fellow workers.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: McCord's Typewriter Tapes

WASHINGTON-- News accounts of this week report that a CIA operative stood by while Mrs. James McCord, wife of the Waterbugger, burned papers following the arrest of her husband inside the Watergate.

We have now learned that there were two incinerations in the McCord fireplace. The first fire, indeed, caused smoke damage after the damper closed and the smoke billowed through the house.

CIA consultant Lee Pennington attended the second burning. He swears that Ruth McCord burned only old magazine articles, letters and clippings but not any Watergate- related documents. Two folders with CIA material in them, one merely retirement papers, were intact when he saw them, he told us.

But two days earlier, we have now learned, she destroyed a tangle of old typewriter ribbons in the fireplace. These had been removed by McCord, an ex-CIA agent, from President Nixon's campaign headquarters.

An expert could determine from the ribbons what had been written on the typewriters. Because the ribbons fouled the campaign committee's famous shredders, McCord had taken them home in paper bags to destroy.

When he was arrested during the Watergate break- in, his loyal wife was worried over what to do with the bag stuffed with typewriter ribbons. She decided to incinerate them in the fireplace, rather than leave them in the trash for the FBI to find.

Pennington told us he didn't learn until later about the burning of the typewriter tapes. He saw the smoke damage but assumed it had been caused by the second fire, he said.

Like a good agent, he reported the burning to the CIA. His secret report, which he insists was badly garbled by the time the CIA got it into memo form, lay in CIA files for 18 months until it was turned up by a CIA employe a few weeks ago. The CIA then turned it over to Watergate investigators.

They seem satisfied no papers were burned in the second fire that tied the CIA to the Watergate break- in, as they had originally suspected. But they wonder what evidence, if any, was destroyed on the typewriter ribbons.

Footnote: The CIA refused comment. Pennington spoke candidly with us of his visit to the McCord home. McCord's attorney, Bernard Fensterwald, confirmed that our account of the incident was "basically correct."

MYSTERY CONGRESSMAN: Attorney General William Saxbe titillated reporters recently by telling them about a mystery congressman who came to him seeking clearance for Jimmy Hoffa to engage in Teamster Union politics.

We have now been able to identify Hoffa's mysterious errand boy as Rep. Larry Williams, R- Pa. Our sources say Williams not only approached Saxbe but buttonholed President Nixon at a White House Christmas party.

The irrepressible Hoffa, whose prison sentence for jury tampering was commuted by the President, is eager to regain his old post as Teamsters chief. The government claims his presidential pardon bars him from involvement in Teamsters politics, but Hoffa insists that it became unconditional after March 10, 1973.

To press Hoffa's case, Williams sought an appointment on February 4 with Saxbe and showed up with a Hoffa ally, Al Cohen. Earlier, Williams twice cornered President Nixon and talked to him about Hoffa at a Christmas party. Sources with direct knowledge of the incident tell us that, the second time, the President told Williams with some irritation: "Larry, I got your message."

Williams denied to us that he spoke to Nixon about Hoffa but confirmed he attended the party. Williams also confirmed that "a representative of the Teamsters Union, Al Cohen, asked me to set up a meeting" with the attorney general.

A spokesman for the attorney general told us that Saxbe was unaware that the congressman was bringing Cohen along.

HOT MESSAGE: As evidence that the snooper mentality is still strong inside the government, the Veterans Administration on March 22 relayed a secret message over its hot line to regional directors to report to Washington "any intelligence" about possible veterans' demonstrations.

"Some information has been received," states the message, "to the effect that the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, Winter Volunteers Organization and similar organizations may demonstrate at VA hospitals and regional offices on or around March 29.

"Confrontations may occur in regard to amnesty and upgrading of military discharges and may include demonstrations and sit-ins....Any intelligence gathered should be reported to Mr. Bill Rettew, Ext. 3093, home phone...."

STRANGE WAYS OF THE TV NETWORKS

It would appear that the personal enterprise, profit-motive system of our Republic has been made so "controversial" by leftish opinion- molders that the TV networks now refuse a paid commercial designed to inform the public as to the benefits and virtues of private enterprise.

Norm Campbell, president of Tracy- Locke Advertising, "got his 'Middle American' dander up," as he put it, when all three major networks rejected a paid commercial explaining the benefits to the public at large resulting from the enterprise system.

Campbell said that one network official told him that if the commercial were for another company, it would probably have been accepted. It might be guessed that the commercial was for an oil company, but it was for one of the scores of medium- sized companies Phillips 66, not one of the six or eight giants.

Campbell noted, "I'm not out to conduct a personal vendetta against the networks We know they are terribly afraid of the 'fairness doctrine,' but if anyone should be asking for free time it's the oil companies." The Phillips 66 Company and Campbell and Tracy-Locke, as well as courageous local TV stations which are airing the commercial extolling personal enterprise, all deserve the support and commendation of the public. Boy Scouts to get new lodge

The planned 1,380 square- foot lodge at Lake Wappapello for Boy Scouts in the Southeast Missouri Council is expected to be ready for use by the summer of 1975, Jerry Beckner of Cape Girardeau, council executive, told members of the council executive board Thursday night at Sikeston Junior High School. Construction will begin in September or October, upon approval from Boy Scout national headquarters in Washington, D. C. The building, which would be located seven miles south of Greenville on Lake Wappapello, would have a bunk room with 30 bunk beds, meeting room with a fireplace, kitchen and shower room.

Camp food will cost more, executive board told

Food for Boy Scout Camp Lewallen at Lake Wappapello this summer will cost 15 to 20 per cent more than previously, Joe Kiser of Piedmont, council camping chairman, told members of the Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council executive board Thursday night at Sikeston Junior High School.

Kiser said he had talked with three suppliers who predicted the cost increase, but indicated there would be no shortage of food.

Jerry Beckner of Cape Girardeau, council executive, told the board that a 1,380 square- foot new building planned on Lake Wappapello is expected to be ready for use by Boy Scouts during the summer of 1975. Plans for the building were approved at the February board meeting.

If the plans are approved by the national headquarters in Washington, D. C., construction will begin in September or October, with the local council supplying all materials and the Job Corps of Puxico providing the labor.

The building will be located on 60 acres of land seven miles south of Greenville on the northern edge of Lake Wappapello. The building will act as a terminal point for a 40- mile canoe trail which starts at Camp Lewallen.

The building plan provides floor space for a bunkroom with 30 bunk beds, meeting room with fireplace, kitchen and shower room.

The estimated cost is $12,000, with funds donated by Ellery B. Poole of Poplar Bluff, a long- time scouter who died in January 1970, Beckner said.

Beckner also announced that May 18 will be ladies day at Camp Lewallen — a day of activities for scoutmasters and their wives.

Irven Schlief of Doniphan, chairman of the training committee, announced that a scoutmaster training session will be held April 12-13 at Camp Lewallen and a troop leader development camp June 9-15.

The executive board voted to adopt a Current River leadership expedition program, subject to funding. The initial cost for the 10-day float trip would be $4,000.

Ken Myles of Cape Girardeau, exploring chairman, announced that involving a barbecue and boating expedition, will be held Aug. 10 at Lake Wappapello.

Max Mull of Cape Girardeau was elected as a new member to the executive board at Thursday's meeting.

Upcoming activities and deadlines were announced by Vic Hill, of Cape Girardeau, activities chairman. All scout districts in Southeast Missouri will hold scout-o-ramas Saturday and have planned their camporees for May 3-5, Hill announced.

He added that all applications for the Philmont Expedition this summer at Cimarron, N. M., are due in the Southeast Missouri Council office in Cape Girardeau by May 1, as are applications for the world jamboree to be held July 29-Aug. 7, 1975 in Oslo, Norway.

Three Boy Scouts may attend the worldwide event from the Southeast Missouri Council.

Webelos Day at Camp Lewallen will be held July 13, Hill announced, and a public speaking contest is planned for 1975. The contest will have two categories, one for Eagle Scouts who are 18 or under by Feb. 1, 1974, and another for Explorer Scouts, who must be under age 21 on that date.

The Southeast Missouri Council will hold its contest in September. The regional contest is scheduled for Nov. 15 and a national contest will follow. Winner of the national contest will receive $2,500 and a trip to Washington, D. C.

Beckner announced the resignation of Phillip Dixon of Cape Girardeau, Shawnee District scout executive.

He also announced that the Howardville medical explorer post visited a hospital in Little Rock, Ark., and attended a one- hour open heart operation.

Senate passes bill to sell land to Sikeston

The Missouri Senate has passed House Bill 1271, which would sell one- half acre of state- owned land to the city of Sikeston for $1.

The land is a small triangle- shaped piece of property located along Plaza Drive on the northwest corner of the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic property.

The bill was introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. C. F. Cline of Sikeston.

Cline said the bill now goes to Gov. Christopher Bond. Cline said he believes Bond will sign the bill.

The property can be used for a street, right of way or any other purpose the city should decide.

City officials have not yet decided what they will do with the land.

$4 million damage suit against sheriff dropped

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A $4,525,000 damage suit filed March 22 in U. S. District Court by Henry "Hank" Dale of Lilbourn, president of United Steel Workers of America Local 7686 against New Madrid County Sheriff W. L. "Cowboy" Ramsey was dropped Wednesday by Dale, according to the district court clerk, who did not disclose the charges filed.

Dale, who is attending a union convention in Kansas City and was not available for comment today, was arrested the night of Feb. 27 following a dispute between Dale and a union member at the union hall in Marston. He was charged with exhibiting a dangerous and deadly weapon.

Union members have been on strike since Jan. 31 at Noranda Aluminum Inc. in St. Jude Industrial Park near Marston following expiration of a contract.

While Dale was confined at the county jail, he sustained a beating allegedly committed by cellmates. He underwent surgery March 3 in Methodist Hospital at Memphis, Tenn. The operation involved surgery on his right eye and nose. Dale also received a broken cheekbone and jaw in the beating.

Ann Landers

Girl says her family better off with parents divorced

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 12- year- old girl who has something to say to a lot of kids who are in the same spot I'm in. My parents are divorced.

I'm the youngest of four kids. We all live with Mom, but we see Dad every two weeks and write him letters whenever we feel like it. This might not be nice to say, but I'm glad my folks got a divorce. When Dad was home, he and Mom fought all the time and it made us kids very nervous. Mom had headaches and Dad had stomach aches. Now they both feel fine and treat each other like friends instead of enemies.

Us kids feel better, too. My little brother has stopped stuttering and I don't shake like I used to when I was afraid my dad might lose his temper and slap my mother.

So, kids, if your parents are separated or divorced, it probably means they had to do it for their health's sake, and for yours, too. So cheer up and don't feel sad.-- I Understand

Dear I.U.: For a young lady of 12 you have a beautiful set of brains. Congratulations on figuring things out so well. I hope your letter helps other kids who are walking in the same moccasins.

Dear Ann Landers: May I comment on that letter from the senior citizens (late 60s for her, early 70s for him) who found love the second time around? Oh, how glorious it was! No worries about pregnancies, no troublesome kids, no burning desire to corner all the money in the world-- it sounds divine. So my old goat hands it to me and says, "See, Ann Landers approves of what I am doing."

Well, what he is doing (after nearly 50 years of marriage) is chasing every widow and divorced woman in town. I'm not saying he is catching many, but it's not for lack of trying. He insists that just because I am worn out (not interested in sex)-he has the right to enjoy himself if he feels like it.

Don't suggest divorce. I couldn't face it and he doesn't want it. I can still cook, do his laundry and keep the house clean.

I wrote to you a while back saying some women lose interest in sex after a hysterectomy. Your medical experts said most of the problem is in the head. Well, wherever it is I have it, and I resent being told I am nuts.

Furthermore, if a couple loves each other, it shouldn't make any difference if they have no sex after 65. They'd still have respect and companionship. I dare you to print this.-- Peoria

Dear P.: That dirty old man you are married to got no O. K. from me to run around. Those senior citizens who were having such a rollicking love affair were a couple of long-time friends who had lost their mates and were soon to be married.

Some women do lose interest in sex after a hysterectomy, but it is largely an emotional problem and not physical. (The lost estrogen due to the removal of the ovaries can be replaced by medication.)

You are right when you say that if a couple love each other they can still have respect and companionship without sex. But if a woman loves and respects her husband, she could continue to have sex to please him, even though she didn't get much out of it. Your situation is quite different. You are married to an alley cat who treats you shabbily and you are bitter and resentful. You didn't ask for advice, however, just a chance to sound off. So here's your letter and I hope you feel better seeing it in print.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers's booklet, "Marriage-- What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654, enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The case of the miraculous shrine

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Peter was so sick when he went to the hospital for an operation, he couldn't even take a turn for the nurse. And, after the surgery, the only turning he did was to religion.

He became such a true believer, in fact, that he practically crawled off to Europe where he did his recuperating before a shrine world- famous for bringing about miraculous cures.

One ailment it didn't cure, however, was the severe pain in the neck Peter gave the Internal Revenue Service when he subsequently deducted the cost of his European trip from his income taxes as a medical expense.

"You can't do that," protested the staunch men of the IRS. "You went to Europe to visit a shrine, not a doctor."

"That's absolutely true," conceded Peter. "But, physically and mentally, that shrine did me more good than a convention of doctors. When I got back, I felt like a million bucks. Before I went, I could hardly walk. After my return, I couldn't stop running."

Stalemated, the dispute ended up in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you consider the trip to the miraculous shrine tax deductible?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that there is no provision in the tax law that would permit the cost of a trip to obtain spiritual help in alleviating a physical defect as a medical expense.

McClarty carries big bat at SEMO

CAPE GIRARDEAU–Weather willing, Southeast Missouri State University will open the 1974 MIAA baseball season Saturday in Warrensburg.

The Indian diamondmen, like all other spring sports teams, have been at the mercy of the weather as they face the problem of cancelling and rescheduling games.

After getting in a twinbill against Christian Brothers College of Memphis where they won 5- 1 and 6- 1, the Indians had three doubleheaders snowed and rained out.

The Tribe managed Tuesday to get in a pair of games against a tough Western Illinois squad. The teams split, with the Indians losing the opener 3- 2 and taking the nightcap 6- 3.

Anxious to get in another doubleheader before Saturday's league opener, Indian coach Joe Uhls set up a pair of games against Christian Brothers College for Thursday and won a doubleheader, 9- 5 and 2- 0.

Charlie Vickery of Chaffee and Jim Noon of Scott City picked up the wins for the Tribe. Vickery teamed with Terry Bazzel for a one hitter in the opening game victory while Freshman Noon fashioned a three hitter.

Lilbourn's Pat McClarty continued to carry a big bat for Southeast, going three for six in the twinbill with a pair of triples. Dave Holdinghausen homered and tripled for the Indians.

The victory raised coach Uhls record to 150 and sends his tribesmen to Warrensburg with a 5- 1 season slate.

Uhls says he is anticipating a tough pair of games in the conference openers.

Central Missouri State University has 12 games under its belt.

The Mules' bright spot is pitching where they feature three topnotch hurlers.

Central Missouri State has two transfers from the University of Missouri-- Rolla on the mound staff along with one ace from last year's staff.

Experience is certainly not a problem for the Mules as they boast 20 returning lettermen from the '73 squad.

Uhls was very pleased with the Tribe's initial appearance of the season in Memphis when they took a pair from OBC.

The veteran coach declared, "We played a good game defensively, had timely hitting, and fine pitching."

Galen McSpadden began his senior season on the right foot in the first game by holding the Buccaneers to three hits and one run.

In the second game Sikeston sophomore Bob Blankenship gave up five hits and a run enroute to victory.

Mark Amick, a senior from Scott City, had five hits for the day, while Lilbourn's Mike Dambach had four hits and Pat McClarty, also from Lilbourn, had three hits and four RBI's for the day.

Against Western Illinois the Tribe suffered a defensive breakdown. Uhls explained, "Defensively we didn't do too well. We had a lot of errors which cost us the first game and almost the second.

The Indian chief was also disappointed with some of the pitching in the games.

Festus senior Steve Elfrank won the second game of the twinbill for the Tribe.

For the day Amick had a home run, McClarty had four hits, and Gary Wengert of St. Marys had a bases- loaded double to ignite the Tribe's offensive attack in the second game which they won.

After Saturday's games the Indians will be idle until April 3 when they host Moorhead, Minn., in a 1 p.m. twinbill at Capaha Park.

Red Devils topple KHS

CHAFFEE — The CHS Red Devils surprised Kelly here Thursday afternoon, handing the Hawks their first defeat of the young season 4-3.

Kenny Urhahn started on the Mound for the Hawks and suffered the defeat in his initial start.

Bess picked up the Scott-Mississippi conference win for the Red Devils after Little slapped a two run homer in the bottom of the sixth to give CHS a come from behind victory.

Kelly jumped out in front in the top of the first inning and Urhahn gave up the tying run in the bottom of the frame. The Hawks went ahead by one run in the top of the third and Jeff Jackson added an insurance run in the top of the sixth with a homerun over the centerfield fence.

Kelly's rightfielder dropped a sure out in the bottom of the sixth and allowed Little to come to bat and smack his homer over the rightfield fence to pull out the victory. Urhahn didn't have his good stuff in the first start of the year but fanned nine batters in the game.

Kelly managed only four hits off Bess and two were by Jeff Jackson. Heeb collected two of the five hits off Urhahn.

Former Bootheel stars at SWBC

BOLIVER — Southwest Baptist College coach John Edwards is looking for a center to build around next season. His Bearcats finished with an 18-10 mark and lost to nationally ranked Missouri Western in the NAIA tournament.

"We are looking at about 25 players in high school and junior college that we think can play for us next year," Edwards said.

The Bearcats lost all their front line except Roy Fields, former Neelyville high school star and Three Rivers Community College standout of Poplar Bluff.

Fields is a 6-6 jumping jack with a great shooting eye to boot. Roy led TRCC in rebounding and was high on the Raiders scoring list before graduating. He averaged over 17 points a game for the Bearcats this season and led SWBC in rebounding. It was the first time that Fields has played forward for anybody. He was always a center.

Joining Fields will be former Sikeston High School star Fred Towns. The 6-7 leaper will give coach Edwards plenty of board strength for next season.

Fred played freshman ball for Murray State University before dropping out for a couple of years and enrolling at SWBC this year. Fred was ineligible this year but will have a junior status next season.

Townes was an all stater for the Sikeston Bulldogs and an all- American selection in 1968.

Lad Family Singers plan concert in East Prairie

Lad Family Singers

EAST PRAIRIE— The Lad Family Singers, a part of Lad Ministries of Joplin, will appear in concert Wednesday at 7 p.m. at First Christian Church, 215 S. Washington St., according to H. Lee Erwin, director of local arrangements.

The Lad Family Singers, along with the Gospel Lads, an all male quartet, make up Lad Ministries. The Gospel Lads in turn are employed by Revival Fires, an international, multifacited television ministry directed by Cecil Todd. The Lad Family Singers tour out of Joplin and are making appearances throughout the United States.

The Lad Singers are a vibrant group made up of three members of the younger generation. They have experienced success in churches and schools with audiences made up of all ages. All three members have done a great deal of work in the past in such groups as the Celestials, the Gospel Couriers, the Relation and the Gospel Lads.

Mike and Sue Campbell, two members of the group, have been viewed many times on the nationwide TV program, Revival Fires. Campbell has participated in crusades, such as one in Bluefield, W. Va., that saw 732 decisions made for Christ. He has also appeared with such personalities as Vonda Van Dyke (former Miss America), Stuart Hamblem (author of "This Ole House", It Is No Secret" and others), the Oak Ridge Boys, the Florida Boys, the Statesmen, the Downings, the Prophets and other national groups.

The Lad Family Singers will be on hand for the one night only and will portray the "now" gospel sound, along with many old favorites.

The program starts with registration at 9:30 a.m. and the first speaker at 10 a.m. Both noon and evening meals will be served by the women of Shady Acres.

The POWER of FAITH

THE BIBLE

128. Samuel Anoints Saul as King

During his old age, Samuel retired and appointed his sons to judge in his place. However, his oldest sons, Joel and Abijah, became greedy and corrupt. So the leaders of Israel met with Samuel in Ramah to discuss the current state of affairs. In this meeting the leaders demanded that Samuel give them a king like the other nations had.

This turn of events disturbed Samuel greatly, and he sought God's counsel. The Lord commanded Samuel to appoint a king, but to warn the people first about the abuses of kingship they must inevitably suffer. Samuel did as he was told, but even so the people still demanded a king.

It then came to pass that the Lord revealed to Samuel that the king would be Saul, son of Kish, a Benjamite who was the largest and most handsome man in Israel. When Samuel had gathered together the various tribes, he had Saul stand before the people.

"And Samuel said to all the people, See ye him whom the Lord hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people? And the people shouted, and said, God save the king. Then Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the Lord...." (I Samuel 10:24-25)

Book Review

SECOND NOVEL BY BESTSELLING AUTHOR PUBLISHED ROMANCE SET IN MEDIEVAL ENGLAND

The wolf is Wulfgar, the Iron Wolf of Normandy, a knight who pledges loyalty to the Norman King William; the Dove is Aislinn of Darkenwald, a feudal princess of Saxon blood. The story of their turbulent romance is told in THE WOLF AND THE DOVE, a novel by Kathleen E. Woodiwiss, published by Avon Books.

Set in Saxony in 1066, during the reign of William the Conqueror, THE WOLF AND THE DOVE is the story of a young woman's sexual and romantic awakening, played out against the violence of 11th- century England. In the name of his king, Wulfgar claims the lands of Darkenwald and all its people; the beautiful Aislinn he claims as his own. Determined to barter what justice she can for her defeated people, Aislinn accepts her role as mistress to a man she expects to loathe. But she is not prepared for her passionate attraction to Wulfgar, nor his love which is tested by their divided political loyalties and the treachery of those that surround them.

THE WOLF AND THE DOVE is Mrs. Woodiwiss' second novel; her first, The Flame and the Flower, published by Avon in 1972, was a bestseller that now has over 1,000,000 copies in print. Discussing her latest book, Mrs. Woodiwiss commented: "I researched heavily for this book, and I feel that it accurately portrays a dramatic and devastating time in British history, while at the same time presenting a very human and honest love story. The Flame and the Flower was my first serious attempt at writing; THE WOLF AND THE DOVE is the result of two years of concentrated effort, and I think it is an entertaining tale presenting believable people in an accurately portrayed atmosphere."

Set for March 20 publication, THE WOLF AND THE DOVE will be launched with a record 800,000 copy first printing and a national advertising campaign.

Endlessly honed and leveled by a succession of Ice Age glaciers, Denmark has prompted neighboring Norwegians, with their wealth of mountains, to tax the Danes with the comment: "If you stand on a box you can see the whole country."

These are exciting, miraculous and many times frustrating days we are living in and the only thing that seems consistent is change itself. But as interested bystanders we must keep up with the times and try to keep in touch with everything going on about us. In the midst of all these earthshaking events, we often times lose sight of the fact that small tidbits of information are still part of the passing scene. In this column, we hope to provide you with interesting facts and keep you in touch with informative trivia.

A Waterfine Water Refiner will also help you keep up with the times. Since the water we use today is the same used by Cleopatra, thousands of years ago, water pollution has to be a concern of the modern homemaker. If you want to insure that your water is clean, sparkling and free of damaging hardness minerals get the complete story about a Waterfine Water Refiner today. Call Braswell.

BLOOMFIELD — Dwight Butler, 30, of Malden was bound over to Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court before Judge Koss W. Blomeyer.

Butler is charged with the burglary of Shipman's Market, Inc. on East Stoddard Street in Dexter where meat and other items valued at approximately $2,000 were taken.

Witnesses for the state included Roy Minton, vice president of Shipman's Market, Inc.; New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Bo Wingo; Dunklin County Deputy Sheriff Bob McDonald; Stoddard County Deputy Sheriff Arthur Lee; and Bill Walls of Parma.

Walls proved to be the key witness as he testified that on the night of March 2 Butler, along with Jerry Lee Cluck and Leonard Little of Malden, brought to his home in Parma 160 cartons of cigarettes and asked him if he would fence the cigarettes for them.

He said Little told him they had taken the cigarettes from a supermarket in Dexter. He said they also had in their possession several hams but took those with them. Walls said he agreed to sell the cigarettes for $2 per carton and then hid the cigarettes in garbage bags in an outdoor toilet located near his house.

The cigarettes were located later in the week by Dunlin Deputy Sheriff Bob McDonald, who turned the merchandise over to the New Madrid County sheriff's Department, which released them to Stoddard County authorities.

Lee, the Stoddard County deputy, testified that upon a search of Butler's mobile home, located just south of Malden, he found six cartons of cigarettes and two boxes of cigars in the refrigerator of the mobile home and three packages of razor blades in the bathroom.

Minton, vice president of Shipman's Market, Inc., had previously testified as to the items taken from the market, and these were among those listed.

The arrest of Butler followed a three- month investigation by the sheriff's departments in Stoddard, New Madrid and Dunklin counties as well as law enforcement officials in Tennesses, in connection with a string of burglaries in Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Missouri.

In another case, Kenneth Wayne Barnes, 28, of Hannibal was bound over to Circuit Court for trial after he waived a preliminary hearing on a charge of fraud in connection with the purchase of a tractor from a Dexter dealer. He also faces similar charges in Scott and Mississippi counties. He is scheduled to appear in Circuit Court on April 1.

Robert A. Taylor of Bernie was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for six months under supervision, after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana.

Grace Butler of Hickman, Ky., was fined $25 on a careless and imprudent driving charge and $100 on a driving while intoxicated charge. Mrs. Butler was involved in an accident south of Dexter in which she lost control of her car at a high rate of speed and struck a utility pole.

The driving while intoxicated charge was determined by a blood sample taken at Dexter Memorial Hospital, where she was treated following the accident.

Billy Lee Allison of Advance, charged with destroying private property of his former mother-in-law, appeared in court and produced proof that he had made restitution. He was then given a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

Henry B. Long was fined $15 after pleading guilty to a charge of slashing the tires on an automobile belonging to his former wife.

Three cases continued for an indefinite period included: Micheal Ray Westbrook of St. Charles, nonsupport; Joan Davenport, intent to defraud; and Wolford K. Flannery, driving while license is under revocation.

Dewey Glen Smith and David Franklin Williamson of Bloomfield, both charged with driving while license is revoked, pleaded not guilty, and both trials were set for April 11.

Hendley of Bloomfield, $15; George Wilson of Poplar Bluff, $18, Dale LaFout of Malden, $21, John Neil Grindstaff of Bernie, $10, and Lawrence Cole, $16.

For Councilman
Tuesday, April 2, 1974

I wish to express my deepest gratitude for your vote of confidence in the primary election.

Three months ago my workers and I started our campaign, fighting impossible odds and passed the primary election.

We haven't and will not give up! We've caught our second wind and are working harder and smarter.

Our campaign raised $390.00 in small donations from many concerned citizens. $285.00 was spent in offering RED BALL to the citizens of Sikeston. The rest was spent in the primary election.

My platform has and always will be, to put more life, progressiveness, and responsiveness in our Local Government. If you feel the need as I do, express your feelings by casting one vote and that vote for me, on April 2nd.

Our election and principles are in your hands. Our advertising is your vocal support.

Sincerely,

GRAMMY SALUTES OSCAR
In Color, Saturday, March 30, 1974 9:00- 10:00 PM

GRAMMY SALUTES OSCAR, a sparkling hour- long special spotlighting the music of the movies since the beginning of the annual Oscar awards, will be broadcast Saturday, March 30th on the CBS Television Network. Gene Kelly-- himself an Oscar winner in 1951 for his achievements in film choreography-- will host the program.

Mr. Kelly will present famous stars who made music and motion picture history during the 1930's, 40's, 50's and 60's, many who also have won Grammy as well as Oscar awards. This impressive group of entertainers include: Frankie Avalon, Janet Blair, Cyd Charisse, Rosemary Clooney, John Green, Dick Haymes, Jack Jones, Gordon MacRae, Henry Mancini, the Johnny Mann Singers, Tony Martin, Ann Miller, Dennis Morgan, Gene Nelson, Buddy Rogers, Dionne Warwick and Jane Withers.

The special opens with Gene Kelly introducing a few of the mechanical inventions that made the era of sound motion pictures possible: Thomas Edison's movie projector called the "kinetascope;" and his original "talking machine." Then the program swings into a medley of memorable hit songs that received the Oscar Award.

As Kelly points out, the first real movie musical was "Broadway Melody" in 1929; it was "all talking, all singing-- all dancing." The following Thirties gave birth to some of the most famous names in show business; stars like Fred Astaire, Maurice Chevalier, Nelson Eddy, Rudy Vallee and Bing Crosby. And Busby Berkely was King of the Musicals. In song and dance routines, guest stars Jane Withers, Buddy Rogers and Tony Martin portray the Oscar hits of the 30's, including "Sweet Leilani," "The Way You Look Tonight," and "Over The Rainbow" from the musical "Wizard of Oz."

In the program's middle segment, the golden years of Oscar- winning songs are spotlighted-- that 20 year period during the 40's and 50's. The first Oscar winner from this era is "When You Wish Upon A Star," the nostalgic melody known to millions around the world from Walt Disney's "Pinnochio." Dick Haymes, Ann Miller, Janet Blair, Gordon MacRae, Gene Nelson and Frankie Avalon sing a host of winners during this period, such as "Zip- A- Dee- Doo- Dah," "High Noon," "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing" and "Gigi."
